FACULTY OF HEALTH & SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT INTERNAL GRANT COMPETITION

The Faculty of Health & Social Development Innovations in Wellness Fund (FHSD IWF) was established to support research projects that explore new frontiers of scholarship in wellness innovation, with a focus on translational research that aligns with the World Health Organization definition of health: "Health is a mental state of complete physical, mental, and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity".

Candidates will apply to the FHSD describing their research project, and an internal review panel will award the grant. Successful candidates will subsequently be required to submit an application to Mitacs for matching support.

Eligibility

Master's students must be in the first 24 months of their degree; doctoral students must be in the first 48 months of their degree.

Amount of the award (stipend + research allowance):

Master's: $18,000+$2,000

PhD: $23,000+$2,000

Post-Doctoral: $40,000+$5000
